

This design represents the water that flows both above and below the land.

The koru design represents the people who live on the land and who need both the water & sewage tunnels to have a balance.

This design represents the sewage that flows through the sewage tunnels beneath the land.

